

SPRINT BRACE FOR KOOL BACK SEAT

Your new folding Gold Rush has a seat with an adjustable seat back angle mechanism. The seat back can be freestanding, if the adjusting clamp is tightened down enough. This gives a springy, shock absorbent ride. However, for strong or heavy riders, it will probably be too flexible, so we are providing an additional bracing setup we call a sprint brace. It still allows full adjustability of the seat back angle, but makes the back more rigid..... A secondary feature of the sprint braces is that a small or medium size pannier can be hooked onto the center horizontal rod of the brace. Getting the weight of loaded bags under the seat keeps the weight down and directly under the rider, for improved loaded handling.
